

The team made up of Nissan Canton Vehicle Assembly Plant employees includes Randy Jenkins and Jerome Staten. They will be cooking chicken.

Employee
Background	Randy Jenkins
 A black and white photograph of Randy Jenkins, a man wearing a baseball cap and a jacket, standing in a parking lot with cars in the background.	Randy Jenkins is a paint repair technician at Nissan's Canton, Mississippi vehicle assembly plant. He ensures NVs have a perfect finish before leaving the LCV production line. Randy first got into grilling twenty-five years ago when his father turned over cooking responsibilities to him at family reunions and holiday gatherings. Randy lives in Benton, MS.

Employee
Background	Jerome Staten
 A black and white photograph of Jerome Staten, a man wearing sunglasses and a white t-shirt, standing in a parking lot with cars in the background.	Jerome Staten has worked at the Nissan Canton Vehicle Assembly Plant for 15 years. He is currently a paint technician working in the static inspection area. He is married and has three boys. He grew up around grilling and learned much about cooking and grilling from his mom and aunt. Jerome lives in Quitman, MS.