

The Meat Your Maker Team includes journalist from the publication Internet Brands two associates – Aaron Cole, Charles Dyas, and Robert Yarbrough. They will be cooking Turkey.

Outlet	Internet Brands
Journalist	Aaron Cole
Background 	Aaron Cole is the managing editor of Internet Brands Automotive Group’s portfolio of car sites. Prior to joining Internet Brands, Aaron served as the managing editor of The Aurora Sentinel. The publication was launched in January 2013 as a city lifestyle outlet bringing readers stories about the people, events, places, issues, and restaurants that make Aurora, CO such a unique place to live. Aaron grew up in a home where if he didn’t cook he didn’t eat, but his passion for food didn’t take off until college when he cooked at one of Salt Lake City’s most beloved college hangouts and Southern food factories. It’s not as glamorous as it sounds; he was paid in free food and beer. He is a proud Colorado native and studied Philosophy and Finance at the University of Utah. When he’s not writing about cars, he’s driving them. Aaron currently lives in Denver.

Outlet	Internet Brands
Journalist	Charles Dyas
Background 	Charles “Chez” Dyas is a professional human resources consultant, entrepreneur, and part-time photographer. For more than a decade, he has helped businesses and contractors throughout the Southeastern U.S. recruit diverse workforces and comply with federal equal opportunity employment practices. He works with small businesses across the U.S. to manage and develop employees, build infrastructure, and succeed. He’s learned BBQ and cooking largely through osmosis—a large Italian family, the Gulf shores, and the South have a way of infusing flavor into everyone. Chez is also avid photographer, outdoorsman, golfer, pilot, volunteer, chef, husband, and traveler. He is a proud alumnus of Auburn University—prouder still during football season. Chez was born and raised in Alabama but currently lives in Colorado.

Outlet	Internet Brands
Journalist	Robert Yarbrough
Background	Robert "Bobby" Yarbrough is a personal chef, food salesman, and culinary prodigy with a long history in some of Charleston, South Carolina's best kitchens. A native Alabamian, Bobby moved to South Carolina at 16 to start his culinary career by studying at Johnson and Wales University. He has worked under chefs in Charleston including Phil Core, Billy "LC" Condon, and Josh "J2K" Wagers. Bobby has catered events such as The Masters for corporate clients and has volunteered his excellent BBQ for charitable causes throughout the Southeast. Now working in sales, Bobby works throughout Charleston by day, and with his wife and pastry chef, Christina, by night. If you can dream it, Bobby can cook it. His specialties include Southern food with French classical techniques, and Thai cuisine.

Social Media:

Aaron Cole: @ColeMeetsCars